Parkview Elementary School Shows Their Oriole Pride

Every day, Parkview Orioles are showing their pride with Positive, Ready, Kind, and Safe manners. As part of the Positive Behavior Program, students are taught lessons that highlight expectations of common areas throughout the school, such as the hallways, bathrooms, and lunchroom. Students from Mrs. Scheurer's first grade are shown writing on the "Pride Wall" encouraging statements for all the students to follow each day at school.

Students are "caught" by adults and given "Chirp Alerts" that highlight the good deeds of the students throughout the school day. On surprise days, those students wearing a Chirp Alert are called to the office to celebrate their achievement. "Bird Bucks" are also given to students in the classroom who show they have gone above and beyond in showing Parkview Pride. Our next school wide challenge is for students to collect 2,500 Bird Bucks to celebrate an all school Read-In.

Even our littlest Orioles are showing their PRIDE right along with our High School Flight Club!
Go Orioles! Oriole Pride!
