CHS WELCOMES NEW TEACHER, KIM ALDRICH

Kim Aldrich is the new art teacher at Charlotte High School. As everyone knows, the fine arts programs at CHS are outstanding, and Kim is doing a wonderful job adding to that reputation. She has degrees from Gordon College and Georgia State University, and prior to becoming an Oriole, she taught at North Huron, Bangor Township, and AuGres Sims high schools, and she also taught in Georgia. Originally from Louisiana, she also lived in Georgia for many years before moving to Michigan. She is particularly proud of the work she has done in building art programs and working in communities that value the arts, and these experiences will certainly help her thrive at CHS and in the Charlotte arts community. In fact, one of the first things she noticed here was the evident support for the arts in the school and the community, and she is very much looking forward to making her own contribution to our programs! Welcome Ms. Aldrich!
