Washington Elementary Second Graders Read to Succeed!

The second graders at Washington Elementary have been working hard on reading. They know that at school they must practice their skills and work hard. But they are participating in an at-home monthly reading challenge, as well!

Each month the second grade teachers come up with an incentive: movie and popcorn, board games, a special desert, etc. Any 2nd grader who reads at least 6 days a week, 15-20 minutes each day, for the entire month has met the challenge!

This month there were 22 second graders who met their goal. This means that as a group they read nearly 10,000 minutes! Way to go, Washington Elementary 2nd graders!
