Charlotte Public Schools Family Academic Resources for Student Success

Charlotte Public Schools is committed to supporting our students academically and providing parents with resources to assist with grade-level at home activities to support the mastery of English Language Arts (ELA) and Math standards.

Therefore, an online website has been created by the District that will provide free educational websites with learning activities and academic tools for students to expand their learning outside of our school buildings – “at any time, any place, and at any pace.” These sites encourage students in kindergarten through 8th grade to have fun playing games while strengthening reading, writing, math, and critical-thinking skills.

The websites featured target pre-school through 8th grade students and offer interactive games, educational videos, printable worksheets, free books with audio extensions. Please visit <http://charlotteorloles.weebly.com> to access these resources.

Should you have any questions regarding curriculum or school programs, please call your child’s school. Do not be hesitate in reaching out to your child’s teacher(s) for additional activities to support mastery of the standards and to help build your child’s knowledge and skills. The collaboration of parents and educators is critical in guiding each child toward success. Through the support and active participation of our school parents in their child’s(ren’s) education, we form partnerships for success for all students in Charlotte Public Schools.
