Charlotte Second and Third Graders Receive Boogie Boards

Second and third grade students at Charlotte Public Schools' Parkview Elementary are now using "Boogie Boards" as a child friendly, odorless, non-messy classroom writing tool. This new writing tablet takes the place of the traditional laminate whiteboard and smelly dry erase markers.

Each student uses a stylus to practice math problems and vocabulary words of this thin and ultra-light LCD eWriter. With a touch of a button, their writing is erased and they can start again. Students are also discovering that Boogie Boards are a great way to plan their writing as they sketch out their ideas for a story or in science, as they plan a new invention. With a battery life of 50,000 hours, "let's Boogie" has become a new motto at Parkview! #OriolePride
