Charlotte Middle School NJHS Attends Summit at UofM

On Tuesday, March 5, the officers of Charlotte High School National Honor Society and Charlotte Middle School National Junior Honor Society traveled to the University of Michigan to participate in a state summit of NHS and NJHS members. They discussed leadership, social justice, communication, and how to create a positive culture and climate within their schools. They met with over 200 students from all over Michigan and collaborated on ideas to make presentations about how to make our state a better place in the future. We are so proud of their hard work and their willingness to learn and collaborate with their peers. Way to go!
